STEPPING DOWN. Patrolman William Stewart, a veteran of 32 years service with the Andover police department, will officially retire on Oct. 4. Patrolman Stewart served for many years in Shawsheen and for the past several years has been in charge of traffic and parking in the center of town. Here, he is shown in the familiar car in which he patrols the business area.

Administrators Face Regular Evaluation

Andover school administrators will begin now to operate under a new assessment program the school committee accepted from Dr. Kenneth R. Seifert Tuesday night, accomplishing one of the 10 points of the work program the superintendent passed out two weeks ago.

The committee also backed the recommendations of Andover's two elementary school French teachers, June Holt and Helen Dorion, which called the French program for all fifth and sixth graders "ineffective, too little and too late" and recommended discontinuing it immediately in favor of a daily French program in Central and Shawsheen only. This program will be evaluated to aid decisions on the future of the elementary foreign language program. Seifert confirmed that by this year it had become impossible for the staff, which has not been increased in over a decade, to stretch themselves over the enormously expanded elementary school population. He felt the foreign language department of the system should study the issue and make a position statement to aid future decisions. School Committee members also urged attention to articulation between any elementary school foreign language program and those of the junior and senior highs.

Superintendent Seifert praised the report of the two French teachers, who had worked with the state head of foreign language education and visited schools with the reputation of the best elementary foreign language programs, before submitting their report.

Their general recommendations were: (1) every elementary school child should have the opportunity to study a second language which, they emphasized, need not be French, and sometimes would be English, particularly in the case of Cuban and Puerto Rican children coming into the community; (2) the program should consist of daily exposure, starting as low as third grade, should be sequential, with continuity through elementary, junior and senior high school.

Committeeman William A. Doherty recalled for the committee that the original French elementary school program, begun 17 years ago as a volunteer project by three Phillips Academy instructors, started at third grade, but when the committee sought funds for hiring teachers for 3-5 grades, the amount was cut in half. Doherty agreed that foreign language programs should start at least as soon as third grade. The School Committee urged the administration to submit re-

Pollution Warning

With the coming of Fall, the problem of smoldering fires from the burning of leaves adds to the ever-present air pollution nuisance. Many of our residents are afflicted with allergies and this smoke adds greatly to their discomfort. The Board of Health strongly urges the citizens of Andover to place the accumulation of leaves on the side of the road where the highway department will soon pick them up with the leaf vacuum and deposit them in the dump.

Town's Top Ten

Industrial Tax Base Increases Slightly

The town's industrial tax base broadened slightly last year, picking up some of the tax burden of the residential taxpayer, according to assessing department records.

The Gillette Toiletries Co., was the town's top taxpayer, moving Raytheon into second place temporarily until the electronics firm completes its new complex.

Assessor William Russell reports that six additional industrial units were on the rolls this year, as compared to a year ago. The additional units, including Gillette, increase the total industrial valuation of the town to $15,852,100 from the 1968 figure of $9,828,000. The percentage increase went from three to nine per cent.

Residential properties still carry the burden of providing town services. Totalling 79 per cent of the total. A year ago it was 82 per cent.

Total valuation of all residential properties in 1969 was $139,402,800. A year ago it was $135,525,300. The number of residential units increased from 7,718 to 7,810.

Commercial property remained about the same and made up 12 per cent of the total valuation of the town. There were 183 units assessed on valuation of $20,301,100.

Overall the totals included 8,053 units at a total valuation of $175,556,000.

The Gillette company with its new building, had a tax bill this year of $220,658.10. Valuation of the building, not contained on the tax rolls a year ago, was $5,657,900.

The Raytheon company, which has been the top taxpayer here since its arrival in the community over ten years ago, dropped temporarily to second place, with valuation of $5,208,700 and a tax bill of $203,139.30.

Next year it is anticipated that

Two additional items will face the voters at the special town meeting, Oct. 6, one of which the town is obligated to pass.

The selectmen included in a supplemental warrant Monday night, an article calling for $15,000 to provide overtime pay for firefighters. Another article calls for $20,000 to complete water lines to the new Raytheon industrial complex on Lowell street.

Town Manager J. Maynard Austin told the selectmen that the overtime pay for firefighters was necessitated by legislation approved by the state this year and provides for firefighters recalled to duty in case of major fires, or being called to work to cover for vacation or sick time vacancies.

The $15,000, he said, appeared to be sufficient to cover the period from June 4, the date the legislation went into effect, and Dec. 31. Austin said this amount appeared to be sufficient according to talks with Fire Chief Henry L. Hilton.

Lt. Alfred C. Derosier of the fire department was present at the EDUCATIONAL DISCUSSION. Mrs. Philip Hanst, president of the League of Women Voters, discusses educational matters with Dr. Kenneth R. Seifert, superintendent of schools, during a meeting of the league Tuesday morning. Dr. Seifert was the principal speaker.

Dr. Seifert Praises Educational Climate

When parents, administrators, teachers, and taxpayers have developed a real sense of community about what they want schools to do, it can come to pass, "School Superintendent Dr. Kenneth R. Seifert told the Andover League of Women Voters Tuesday.

A good educational climate and new town manager spoke the same language and both knew they need to plan for "wall-to-wall people by 1985."

The new superintendent came out strongly for freedom of speech for students, on the grounds that students have the right - though its been largely mythical to date - to say how their education is affecting them. He theorized that perhaps the reason for the oft-deplored silence of "the good majority" is because the good majority were conditioned to be "quiet and highly regulated inside the school" and not to question things. Seifert wants regular procedures for students' questioning.

FIRST DOWN. Van DeBose is stopped after making a first down during Andover High school 8-0 loss to Danvers Saturday. One long run spelled the difference for the Golden Warriors in the season opener at Eugene F. Lovely field.

Warriors Lose Thriller

Andover High's football fortunes deserved a better fate in the opening game last Saturday, but a packed Eugene F. Lovely field crowd saw the locals suffer an 8-0 loss.

Statistically the Golden Warriors either matched or surpassed their Danvers rivals but the scoreboard told the story differently. A 57-yard run by Danvers halfback Chuck Flint spelled the difference.

The Warriors may have lost more than the game, since ace quarterback Don Pattullo suffered an ankle injury. He was x-rayed at the Lawrence General hospital and there appeared to be no break, but whether he will be able to return to action against a strong Wilmington 11 this Saturday is doubtful.

Andover moved the ball to within the Danvers ten yard line twice and on one occasion crossed the stripe, but the opposing defense dug in and prevented further penetration.

The game was a thriller right down to the final play when Andover nearly scored. Fullback Ellis Rowe, back to pass, could not find a receiver and dashed down the sideline 61 yards eluding four tacklers before being pushed out of bounds by Dennis Goode, the last Danvers defender.

Group Counsel Plans Discussed

At a general faculty meeting on Monday, Sept. 15, the guidance department of Andover High school presented its plans for this year in the area of group counseling.

Brief mention was made of the rationale, theory and approaches used by the counselors at the High school.

The Andover High school guidance department staff includes; William Iggoe, director; Robert Perry, Miss Isabelle Phelan, Winston Ryan, and Miss Marie McLaughlin.

For Those Of Us Who Are Older

Andover's senior citizens are planning a trip to enjoy the fall foliage. The date is Thursday, Oct. 16, leaving The Haven at 10 a.m. and returning late that afternoon.

The trip up through the Hanover, N.H. area will cost $4 for bus fare. The group will stop for lunch at the Hanover Inn, with a choice of items determined by each individual's taste and pocketbook. The four dollar bus fare must be paid at the time reservations are made. It is important that those interested sign up early. Reservations may be made any weekday at the Haven between 10 and 4 o'clock.

The first luncheon of the season is scheduled for Tuesday, Oct. 7 at the Vocational High school. Buses will leave The Haven at 12:30. The fifty cent charge covers the cost of lunch and transportation is free. Luncheons will be regularly scheduled for the first Tuesday of every month. All Andoverites over 60 are welcome and invited to attend.

The representative of the Social Security administration will be at The Haven this Friday, Sept. 26 from 10:30 to 12. Hereafter the last Friday of every month he will be available. Coffee and doughnuts will be served.

Knitting classes will be scheduled if there is enough interest. For information and to express your interest call The Haven at 475-3968.

Included in the fall foliage trip will be a surprise stop on the way home. It should be a happy trip and all are invited to join the group.

Most highways have maximum speed limits -- often temporarily reduced by a slow moving vehicle. Don't lose your patience, warns the Institute for Safer Living. The only safe speed is the speed of traffic flow. Always move with it! Be especially alert on throughways where driving is faster and smoother.

Dias - O'Neill

St. Joseph's Church was the setting for the August 16 wedding of Miss Kathryn Anne O'Neill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene F. O'Neill, 83 Bartlet St., and Joseph Davis Dias. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Dias of Milford.

Rev. William J. Donnelly, O.S.A., performed the morning ceremony and Mr. O'Neill gave his daughter in marriage.

Miss Lois Anne Cross of Basking Ridge, N.J., was maid of honor and Peter Casey of Milford served Mr. Dias as best man, with the bridegroom's brother, Steven Dias and George Anderson, both of Milford, as ushers.

The bride wore a Victorian gown of silk organza trimmed with Venice lace and pink velvet ribbon. Her matching headpiece held an elbow length veil of silk illusion. She carried an old-fashioned bouquet of pink and white sweetheart roses.

Miss Cross wore a complementary gown of pink, trimmed with white Venice lace.

A reception was held after the wedding at the Lanam Club. The bride and groom left for a wedding trip to Quebec, after which their home will be at 422 East Main St., in Milford.

The former Miss O'Neill is a graduate of Boston University, and Mr. Dias is attending Suffolk University. He is a veteran of the United States Air Force who saw a year's service in Vietnam as a combat photographer.

Marriage Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Webster I. Woodworth of 310 North Main St. announce the marriage of their daughter, Barbara Dale, to Pvt. William Earl Donahue, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Donahue of 14 Walker Road, North Andover.

The ceremony took place in the Army Chapel at Fort Gordon, Georgia, where the bridegroom is presently stationed. Rev. Forrestal, U. S. Army Chaplain, officiated. Pvt. Henry A. Neff of Alabama served as best man and Miss Barbara Towne of Andover, was maid of honor.

Also attending the ceremony were the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Woodworth and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Towne of Andover.

It's much better to leave footprints on the sands of time than it is to leave fingerprints at the police station.

Library Volunteers Needed

Mrs. Hart Leavitt

Mrs. Hart Leavitt, 195 Main St., is appealing to Andover women to be volunteers for school library service in two East Boston schools. "No experience is necessary," said Mrs. Leavitt, who began last year as a volunteer in the Andover Library Project. "All you need is a love of kids and books. The rest comes easily. It's a chance for women in the peripheral towns to make a contribution to the city's needs. It's needed, it's satisfying and it's appreciated."

The Andover Library Project, formed last fall, first began operation in the John J. Cheverus School, near Logan Airport. Mrs. Leavitt described its principal as now "pleased and proud to have that library." The Andover Project has taken on a second school, and a third is operated completely by school mothers.

None of the Boston public elementary or junior high schools had libraries in them until a group of Lexington women initiated and staffed a few libraries under the leadership of Mrs. Peggy Kaufman of that town. By last year, the Boston School Committee had hired Mrs. Kaufman to expand the volunteer library project into some

Junior Gardeners To Open Season

Mrs. James Cowdrey, chairman, has announced the beginning of the new season of the Andover Junior Garden Club. This organization is open to all future horticulturists and conservationists who are eight years-old or more. Membership will be limited to the first 50 children to register. Dues of $1.00 for the season are payable at this first meeting.

The opening meeting, "Putting A Garden To Sleep," conducted by Miss Marjorie Stearns, will be held on Saturday, Oct. 4, from 10:30 to 11:30 at the Bay State Bank building. The children will meet and register at the bank and then visit the Historical Society gardens to help "trim for winter." They will then plant geranium cuttings.

Despite a nationwide shortage of skilled workers in many occupations, the abilities of older people often are overlooked.

In St. Augustine's Church on Aug. 2, Miss Donna Marie Lynch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis D. Lynch, 39 Gray Road, exchanged vows with Arthur D. Boren, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Savastano, 297 Lowell St., Methuen.

The bride's father gave her in marriage, and Rev. Joseph Gill, O.S.A., officiated at the 5 p.m. ceremony.

The bride wore an A-line gown of organza over taffeta, trimmed with Venice lace and appliques. Her floor length veil with matching appliques and a mantilla trimmed in Venice lace were attached to a pillbox. She carried a bouquet of stephanotis and ivy, centered with phalaenopsis.

Her matron of honor was Mrs. Sandra Vachon, who wore a yellow gown of chiffon over taffeta, trimmed at the bodice and sleeves with yellow and poppy flowers. Her hat was of chiffon, trimmed with matching flowers, and she carried a basket of yellow daisies and orange tinted roses.

The bridesmaids, Miss Julie Lee of North Andover, Miss Alice Long of Chelmsford, Miss Paula Turner of Haverhill and Miss Martha Boren of Methuen, and Miss Ann King, a cousin of the bride, who was junior bridesmaid, wore dressess identical to that of the matron of honor, except that they were poppy-colored.

The bride's mother wore a mint green ensemble, with a green and white pillbox hat and a white and green tinted orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a pink dress, with matching hat and accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Fall Tinge To Market

There is a fallish tinge to this week's list of "Best Buys" from local farms announced by the Massachusetts Department of Agriculture with gourds and cortland apples making their seasonal debuts. Gourds are especially plentiful and low priced while cortlands are in supply adequate for the demand and reasonably priced, which will delight many homemakers who prize cortlands as the very best of all baking apples. Native sweet corn is an especially good buy on vegetable counters and the quality the best of the season. Boston and romaine lettuce are plentiful and economical, as are Kentucky wonder peppers, carrots, chicory, Indian corn, escarole and many types of squash--acorn, butternut and turban.

Green, red and savory cabbage are all plentiful and reasonably priced as are beets, Kentucky wonder beans, shell and wax beans, regular McIntosh apples, cauliflower, celery, collards, eggplant, dandelion greens and cucumbers.

Outdoor tomatoes are plentiful and reasonably priced as are spinach and potatoes. Eggs continue to be a good buy, and medlars once more offer the biggest savings. Homemakers who have been waiting for cortland apples to sweeten the dessert picture for their families will be pleased with Baked Apples Grenada.

Core 4 apples without cutting through blossom end. Pare about 1/3 of the way from stem to blossom end. Fill centers with grenadine syrup, and brush cut surface with syrup also. Place in baking dish, adding hot water to 1/2 inch and cover. Bake at 350 F. for 45 minutes, brushing cut surfaces with grenadine. Chill. Before serving, whip 1/2 cup cream and fold in 2 tbsps. orange marmalade. Fill apple centers, sprinkle with nutmeg.

Agri-Fact:

In Germany scraped raw apple is used as a remedy for dysentery in children.

TAXPAYERS

Raytheon will again climb back into first place since its new building on Lowell street at Route 93 will be on the tax rolls, along with the property assessed this year.

The new complex will also have an effect on the industrial percentage in the community.

The Massachusetts Electric company, contributing heavily, based on personal property, was the town's third highest taxpayer. Valuation of personal property was $3,137,000 and an accompanying tax bill of $122,343. Real estate owned by the firm was valued at $83,200 and taxes for that total $3,244.80.

Phillips Academy is the town's fourth highest taxpayer paying $105,600 on real estate valued at $2,707,700 and personal property taxes of $1,474.20.

Washington Park apartments is in fifth place with property valued at $1,776,400 and a tax commitment of $69,279.60. The Melrand Trust, owners of the property also pay $1,755 in personal property taxes.

The Lawrence Gas Co., paid $54,943.20 on its personal property valued at $1,408,800. The utility firm pays taxes on its lines which are underground throughout the town.

Rolling Green Motor Inn, Inc., the town's seventh top taxpayer had real estate valued at $1,388,200 and taxed $54,139.80. The motel also had personal property valued at $4,500 and a tax bill of $175.50 for that.

Merrimack Mutual Fire Insurance Co. was in eighth place with property totalling $1,112,600 and taxes of $43,391.40.

Gustave A. Schlott was listed in ninth place by the assessors for his property valued at $1,046,200 at the shopping center and a tax bill of $40,801.80.

C. Lincoln Giles, with various properties in the community, was assessed a total of $33,430.80, with the major portion based on real estate valuation of $855,700.

meeting and said that he could not foresee any abuse of the new law by members of the department.

The $20,000 request will probably not result in any real appropriation.

The money is to provide for the installation of water lines to Raytheon but there are sufficient funds in the original bonding account approved a year ago. The money, however, is designated for sewer construction. Bond counsel has advised that the town should appropriate the money and the transfer of accounts can be accomplished later.

A. Susi Construction Co. of Milton was the low bidder on the project to install the utility lines. The bids opened last week call for both water and sewer lines to be installed for $213,950 by the company.

Your hands tell the story of your life, so give them the attention they deserve. Set aside a half hour a week for a manicure--and your hands will say nice things such as, you're a lady who cares. Never cut the nails with scissors. It makes them tough. Always file them. Never cut the cuticles. Push them back after having softened them with cream. Always use a base coat before applying polish. There is an enamel set that is excellent to brush on nails which resists smudging in 60 seconds. ## DR. SEIFERT and for private audiences with teachers when critical about classes. If these are acceptable procedures of the schools, Seifert reasons, then perhaps the "good majority" won't grow up to be the "silent" majority, but a vocal majority. "Grant students the rights that are theirs, and set up reasonable procedures," said Seifert. "Then if students step outside these procedures, I would have no hesitation in calling the authorities. But if we are going to have some kind of order, we must not block the constitutionally guaranteed rights. We should inspect our cherished values. If freedom is admirable, let's show it by our actions."

Andover is fortunate in its professional staff's attitudes, Seifert told the women, and his discussion repeatedly drew on comparisons with other communities, setting Andover's education situation favorably against the backdrop of the national education scene. He said it was a healthy sign that both Andover's teachers and its administrators were members of the Andover Education Association, instead of belonging to different, possibly antagonistic professional organizations. He felt that the communities where teachers were mainly concerned with militancy and "rights" instead of educational issues were communities where teachers had not been given real responsibility in their areas of expertise.

Dr. Seifert described his own approach as an open one, raising critical questions which he felt needed facing, but very open to criticism where an alternative was offered too. He urged the public to concern itself with, and to judge the schools by, the end product of education. He hoped they would differentiate between the education product and the education process, where "uninformed community intervention can be damaging."

A great responsibility rests with the press here, the superintendent said, and he complimented the accuracy of the reporters covering Andover school news. He added that on the editorial level, newspapers can serve their publics best by thoroughly investigating both the factual background and community attitudes before taking editorial positions.

On other matters, Seifert said he was personally against the "educational park" housing all students in one complex because of the loss of personalization, and magnification of social problems.

He urged expansion of community use of schools, but warned against abuse, "fifteen people can ruin a floor paid for by thousands of people."

He suggested expansion of adult education, on pay-as-you-go plan, and drew applause when he urged more appropriate program for the third of the students not college bound.

He told questioners that the Central School addition had first priority, because planners anticipated 20-30 more years use of Central, and because as it is not only overcrowded, (as are some others) but will very soon be inadequate for educational programs the parents in that district will insist on having.

Seifert described himself as uninvolved on the student dress issue; he said he planned to watch student behavior and was willing to judge them on that issue. He said the dialogue about student appearance was healthy and could lead to parent-teacher-student cooperation on other issues.

League of Women Voters president, Mrs. Philip Hanst, who introduced Dr. Seifert, announced the beginning of fall unit meetings, open to the public, next week. Former president Mrs. George Sherrard announced plans for the League's 50th anniversary fund drive.

EVALUATION

commendations which would assure 7th and 8th foreign language instruction to students now cut out of a French program however skimpy it had been.

The superintendent's assessment and evaluation program for administrators, coordinators and directors is given below:

1. Each administrator will share with the Superintendent what his direction will be for 1969-1970.
2. Each coordinator will share with the Superintendent what his program for 1969 will be.
3. By November 1st, the Superintendent should have an overall view of the system and the specific direction for the remainder of the school year.
4. Before November, (Thanksgiving Holiday), a district sharing of plans will be made regarding this year's program.
5. Also included in the assessment will be a sharing of the auxiliary service programs such as: maintenance, transportation, cafeteria, etc. The timetable for this will be the same as above.
6. Our Long Range Planning and our Assessment Program should enable us to outline the school year 1970-1971 in May or June of 1970.

Assessment Program Evaluation
An integral part of the Assessment Program is the establishment of a dual folder evaluation system.

When discussing the program for the year with the administrators and coordinators, we will mutually agree to the performance anticipated in the coming year. Should a disagreement on performance occur and cannot be resolved, then the administrator who is responsible for carrying out the performance should ask for an audience with the next level.

The program for the year is then put in writing and a copy put into two folders. Both the evaluator and the evaluatee keep a folder, and this becomes the basis for evaluation.

Because of the nature of each school, performance programs will differ significantly. It is expected, however, that with the sharing of programs, changes will occur so that scope and sequence on a K-12 basis will be highlighted.

The success of this program will be determined by the compatibility of shared plans and the substance of those plans.

Really looked. It's surprising how things can get out of hand in there. Suddenly you seem to have no sport jackets. And trousers that used to go with everything just won't do the job anymore. ## Tribute To Erickson Saturday

Edward I. Erickson, retired superintendent of schools, will be honored Saturday night at a testimonial dinner to be held at the Greater Lawrence Regional Vocational Technical high school.

A roast beef dinner will precede an entertainment, speaking and dancing program.

The committee planning the affair held its final meeting Tuesday night and all indications are that there will be a substantial turnout to honor the educator who administered Andover's school system for many years.

Brief comments and tributes will precede the principal address to be given by Dr. Neil Sullivan, commissioner of education for the Commonwealth. Dr. Sullivan was retained by Mr. Erickson as a teacher in Derry, N.H., where the retired superintendent began his educational administrative career.

In connection with the testimonial, an effort is being made to raise the sum of $2,500 to establish a permanent scholarship fund the proceeds to be given each year to a graduate of Andover High School. Donations toward this fund may be sent to the Andover Savings Bank in care of Mr. MacGowan.

REAL ESTATE CORNER

by Marjorie C. Kidd

"Real estate cannot be lost or stolen, nor can it be carried away. Purchased with common sense, paid for in full, and managed with reasonable care, it is about the safest investment in the world." -- Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Now, you have the deed to your new home. Congratulations!

You also have many new responsibilities. If you financed your home's purchase, the mortgage holder has already insisted you have it adequately insured.

If you paid cash, insurance is one of the first things you should investigate. Here, even the location of a fire hydrant can make a difference in your premium.

If this is the first real property you have owned, or whether it is one piece of many, you should have a will which reflects your desires for its disposition, in case of your death.

WATCH NEXT WEEK FOR "REALTOR'S HELP IN A LONG-DISTANCE MOVE."

It's our observation, on meeting students going to and from Andover High school, that they are meeting the challenge of relaxation of the dress code with aplomb. We find them dressed attractively and neatly. From here they seem to be accepting the responsibility well.

Looking for a new home or trying to sell your present one? We will be pleased to counsel you at BIXBY & COMPANY, INC. We feature a library of priced homes that can be built on our inventory of lots. BIXBY & COMPANY, INC., "The Real Estate People", 125 Main St. (Rt. 28), 475-5608. Open 9 to 5 Mon. thru Sat., evenings & Sun. by appt.

HONORING THE RETIRED. Over 200 retired employees of the Raytheon Company were honored Tuesday by the company at a luncheon and tour of both the old and new plants. It was the first of what is planned to be an annual event for the retired employees. Shown here are William Turbett, Ronald Guittarr, industrial relations manager and Kathleen Scanlon.

LIVING WITH YOUR HEART

Massachusetts Heart Association

One of the great developments in medical care within the last decade has been the coronary care unit. In these special areas set aside in hospitals some of the recent advances in electronics and engineering can be applied to the care of patients who have suffered heart attacks or who have other serious rhythm disturbances of the heart.

A heart attack (medically known as a myocardial infarction) is caused when a blood clot forms in one of the arteries of the heart, causing damage to the area of heart muscle which the artery supplies. From this damaged or "infarcted" area, life-threatening and even fatal disturbances of the rhythm of the heart may arise. These disturbances called arrhythmias frequently appear suddenly and unexpectedly, and often occur in patients during the period of convalescence.

The coronary care unit was originally conceived to improve survival in patients with heart attacks whose heart had suddenly and unexpectedly stopped beating by concentrating patients with heart attacks in a special area of the hospital where trained nurses and electronic equipment were constantly and immediately available.

able, it was now possible to save the lives of many such patients who would previously not have survived. The dramatic success of this intensive care treatment led to the construction of coronary units in many hospitals throughout the world.

As more patient data accumulated, it became obvious that most serious disturbances of the heartbeat were almost always preceded by less serious ones. Thus, increasingly, within the past few years, coronary care units have assumed a preventive role -- that is, the electrocardiograms of patients with heart attacks are constantly monitored, and potentially serious situations are immediately treated as soon as they are detected and before they can lead to more serious problems.

The coronary care unit is usually designed and constructed as a separate part of a hospital, often close to the overall intensive care area. Although physicians direct the coronary care unit and are responsible for all patients in them, the key person in a unit is the nurse who is specially trained in coronary care. These nurses are taught to read electrocardiograms, and particularly to recognize the many rhythm disturbances of the heart that can occur as a result of a heart attack. At the first sign of any irregular heartbeat, physicians are notified and institute immediate corrective therapy, often through nurses. In addition the nurses are trained to handle any sort of an emergency arising within the coronary care unit until a physician can be summoned.

It is estimated that at the present time approximately half of the hospitals in the United States are equipped with coronary care units. This number is increasing rapidly, so that eventually virtually all hospitals that treat patients with heart attacks will have such facilities.

A further development in this exciting area of coronary care has come about because a large number of patients with heart attacks die of acute rhythm disturbances of the heart before they ever reach a hospital. As a result, in many communities, ambulances that are specially equipped with this same electronic equipment and personnel are dispatched to carry patients suspected of having heart attacks to the hospital. With these mobile ambulance units, patients can be treated for serious rhythm disturbances and their condition stabilized even before they arrive at the hospital.

As a result of coronary care units, the number of patients who die as a result of a heart attack has been drastically reduced. We look forward to applying even more sophisticated electronics equipment both to hospital and to ambulance coronary care units

What Our Readers Say

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN

A recent letter to the Townsman by Mr. Israel Lichtman stated that a great many wild exaggerated and unproven statements were being made about water fluoridation, based on pseudo-scientific studies of unqualified people. I couldn't agree with Mr. Lichtman more, inasmuch as not only were almost all of his statements in that classification but were based almost entirely upon propaganda supplied by the U.S. Public Health Service, the world's largest propaganda experts when it comes to pushing fluoridation. Anyone can repeat propaganda and call it fact. Rather than resort to the same tactics which mean nothing in the way of proof, I suggest Mr. Lichtman, and anyone else who really feels he would like to know the truth about Fluoridation's safety, write to address below for the books and articles listed herein:

National Fluoridation News, Box 487, Hempstead, N.Y. 11551

* A Struggle with the Titans by Dr. G. L. Waldbott--*Available at the Andover Library. Speaking Out by A. Allen London, D.D.S.

*The American Fluoridation Experiment by Drs. F. B. Exner and G. L. Waldbott

First National Symposium on Fluoridation (A collection of research reports)

Proceedings of the 4th Annual Conference of State Dental Directors With the Public Health Service (This one is a "lulu").

The above literature merely scratches the surface of the evidence available against fluoridation and best of all, it doesn't make grandiose statements with no factual references, it documents each and every one of its medical statements.

Mr. Lichtman and others who think as he seems to do, will undoubtedly be glad to learn why we never hear of debates on the subject in Andover. It happens to be that every time we who oppose fluoridation challenge the pros to a debate, it is never accepted, with one exception. Last April, Dr. Dunbar of the local Board of Health spoke at a small meeting while being opposed by Mr. Howard Thompson of North Andover. Why debate and have your claims exposed by those who have evidence of fluoridations danger, etc.

Among those unqualified people who make claims are the following who have opposed fluoridation for many years; the members of the Association of Physicians and Surgeons (over 20,000 doctors who are all members of the American Medical Association; Dr. Albert Schatz (co-discoverer of streptomycin); Dr. William Murphy, Nobel Prize Winner; Dr. Walter R. Hess, Nobel Prize Winner; Dr. Corneille Heymans, Nobel Prize Winner; plus Biochemists Von Euler - Chelpin; Butenandt;

Hinselwood; Natta; Robinson; Semenov; Sumner; and Virtanen, all Nobel Prize Winners.

Among those quoted by Mr. Lichtman as endorsing fluoridation were the "experts" like U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce; Child Study Association of America, AFL-CIO, etc.

I am sending to Mr. Lichtman a copy of the report made to the Michigan House of Representatives in 1964 by the Study Committee on Water Fluoridation after hearing evidence of both sides of the question. I'm sure he will find their adverse report quite interesting.

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN

Because of the School Committee's decision to abolish dress codes, perhaps other parents and students would like to play a silly little game we like at our house. It goes like this:

1st Player - Imagine George Washington with a crew cut. What's as silly as that? 2nd Player - Would you believe Abraham Lincoln with a handlebar moustache and a clean shaven chin? But imagine Jackie Kennedy Onassis in a dress that's too long. Now what?

1st Player (or 3rd, any number can play) - How about Queen Elizabeth I in a mini! And Sir Walter Raleigh in a grey flannel suit?

2nd Player - President Nixon with a Santa Claus beard! But hey, what's as silly as Santa without the beard?

1st Player - Maybe Tarzan in bell bottoms!

Want to play, anyone?

After trying a few such examples we are thoroughly convinced that styles do express time and place, cultural heritage and individual taste. Yet styles are never totally representative of personality.

In times when we have occasion more and more often to meet with a variety of people from all over the world, people of widely differing cultural heritages, we must not put much faith in mere appearance.

If ever there is to be true peace on earth, we probably should concern ourselves less with such trivia as dress and more with such important matters as Love.

(Mrs. James F.) Mary Jean Bell

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN

On the front page of the TOWNSMAN of Sept. 18 appears a current opinion of the Andover Board of Health concerning Fluoride. May I express a different opinion?

It is a truism, not always respected, that when we resort to means mostly political for accomplishing a purpose, in contrast to allowing individual choice, then much of what would be reprehensible by way of opposition is removed from that category. So it is that when spokesmen for Andover's political health arm refer to opinions that are different from the official fiat as being reprehensible they reveal a lack of comprehension and ethical quality.

Such a lack is a reliable common denominator of men learned, and otherwise, once they are given political authority.

Incidentally, for 50 years and more many respected doctors were foremost amongst those who endorsed and encouraged smoking as good for health. So who can guarantee that those who are now so high handed, ho rever sincere, that what they do in the name of political power may not be proved wrong again?

Editorial Comment

Conference

Listed in this week's issue of the TOWNSMAN'S weekly feature, Down The Years, is the fact that ten years ago the school department planned an educational conference for the community.

Remembering back when this was held, we wonder a bit if maybe such a conference is again due.

Andover, an education-minded community, should well be prepared to occasionally conduct such conferences for its people.

We can not, of course, discount the amount of funds expended here on education, both in personnel and building.

But for the funds expended, possibly there is a lack of communication which well could be corrected by the type of educational conference held ten years ago.

There were expert speakers in various fields of education who came here, gave views, discussed problems, and in general, permitted the townspeople to find out that actually the many dollars spent for education were far from wasted.

Today, a decade later, the situation has not changed. Matter of fact, it has amplified.

Andover is spending even more for education, a fact which all communities are facing.

What do the taxpayers, all residents of the town, receive for their educational dollar?

Basically, a child is sent to school, returns home with a report card, and beyond that possibly the parent is unaware of the teaching process.

Improved communications between the school and the town would only lead to a better understanding of the modern needs and the job that modern educators are trying to do.

Aiming for possibly a spring conference, set up similar to that conducted ten years ago, when such items as the vocational school were discussed and is now a reality, may improve the attitude toward the educational budget.

In a day when much is said about the generation gap — maybe something like another conference could go far to improve the communication gap.

Homework

We can recall when we were in school, one of the prime requisites in the pursuit of education, and likewise one of the most dreaded, was homework.

With that thought in mind, it seems, we should not have to comment on the fact that apparently the school committee did not do their homework prior to submitting a few articles to the forthcoming town meeting, relative to the Central school expansion.

A short time ago, the school administration presented to the selectmen a group of articles seeking some $90,000 to acquire land adjacent to the Central school and along Whittier Court to accommodate new school construction to meet the demands of the growing population in the center of town.

The thought was that state participation, fund-wise, would relieve the town of substantial financial burden.

The thought was exemplary.

But when school administrators appeared before the finance committee a week ago, not all of the facts were available.

It appeared that this was a sudden move. Something sprung upon the town officials and the voters.

One school committeeman even admitted that possibly the board should have done its homework more carefully. Indeed, the remark was well taken.

When asking a community for a substantial sum of money, those requesting this assistance should be prepared to fully explain the need and the purpose to which such funds will be applied.

In this particular case, the school committee appeared to have jumped, maybe even panicked.

When appearing before the finance committee, certain questions could not be answered. The FinCom reserves the right to reject the article, since it is of a financial nature, thus it may not reach the town meeting floor.

We would hope that they will, since a $90,000 expenditure additional facts before the Oct. 6 town meeting.

We would hope that they will, since a $90,000 expenditure may well bring about sufficient questioning, should the FinCom allow the article to be debated.

We may not quarrel with the need for the additional land and the school addition. We can, however, question the abruptness of the moves and the lack of sufficient information, such as the FinCom felt last week.

Intolerable Sneakiness

The Andover School Committee went into executive session to discuss and resolve the trifling educational issue of a dress code for high school students.

It was a piddling performance for a piddling reason. Dr. Richard A. Katz, chairman, has said he could see no reason for an executive session other than the fact that one was requested.

The identity of the people making the request was enough to cause its denial. Superintendent Seifert and Principal Wormwood asked for the executive session. Seifert was hired by the committee to administer the school system. Wormwood was hired to administer the high school. Neither was hired to administer the committee.

Both, however, in effect had the impudence to try just that and they got away with it. The committee — in case you've forgotten the names, the members, besides Chairman Katz, are Mrs. Virginia Cole, William F. King, William A. Doherty and Dr. Daniel Frishman — obviously promptly should have put the Seifert and Wormwood in their subordinate place and emphatically reminded them they were asking for the commission of an illegal act.

Instead, the committee yielded to its employees and in clear disregard of moral and legal duty held the executive session. All it did in this sneak to secrecy was approve by a 4-1 division — Doherty opposed — the three-word code — neatness and cleanness.

This performance in Andover, that seat of high educational tradition, constituted the most in-excusable act in contempt of moral and legal duty yet recorded by the too many sneaks to secrecy by public servants in towns served by the Eagle-Tribune.

It should not be necessary, but apparently it is, to remind the committee — and all other public servants — that repetitions of these sneaky sessions will not indefinitely be tolerated.

Of The Desk

Some weeks ago, the TOWNSMAN, commented on the erection of highway signs and how the state somehow found enough of the taxpayer's money to put some up then replace them, at considerable expense at a later date.

Now, we find that even worse than replacement is the misspelling.

Noticed over the weekend, Attleboro was spelled as indicated on Route 95, yet on Route 495 it was Attleborough.

Likewise, several years ago the signmakers designated Merrimack river — Merrimac — which is inaccurate. Recently the sign, once corrected, was replaced with a new sign — again spelled Merrimac.

Overheard this week as some men were discussing the fate of the hapless Boston Patriots: "Let em move out of Boston, we can only do better with an expansion team."

Could be true, certainly the Pats, complainers and crybabies have little chance of success or a following based on their two initial showings.

As we do our shopping this week, notice the produce counters loaded with fresh fruit and vegetables. This time of the year the supply is plentiful, which should meet anyone's budget. The condition of the vegetables is excellent and in very good quality.

New England Electric System opened the doors of four generating plants again this summer from June to September. Tours were given at each plant, providing a chance for anyone interested to see the plants and get an understanding of power generation.

The plants, Brayton Point at Somerset; Salem Harbor, Salem; Manchester Street, Providence; Webster Street, Worcester, received visitors all day. Specially trained college students, acting as guides, described the operation, pointed out interesting features of the plant and answered questions.

Once again, the tours were successful. The fall tallies show another increase in visitors: from 8,531 guests in 1968 to 12,002 this summer, a 41% increase.

Such a season for the professional sports follower in the Boston area.

Dick Williams fired by the Red Sox, the Patriots floundering, the Celtics without Bill Russell, the Bruins already suffering from substantial injury list before the season opens.

Makes for an interesting winter forecast.

Mrs. Phillip A. Costello of Salem Street, Andover has been accepted as a student in Course III at the Fifth Annual Realtor's Institute of Massachusetts being held this week in Lexington. With the successful completion of this course she will receive the professional designation of Graduate, Realtor's Institute (GRI), identifying her as being among the leaders of her profession, and indicating that she has had 90 hours of classroom time, with 3 comprehensive examinations in various aspects of the real estate field.

With a chill in the air these mornings, many people go out and warm up the car before proceeding toward their daily schedule.

This is a good idea and many auto experts advise such a practice.

Safety experts, however, remind us that such a practice is best done by moving the car out of doors, since starting and leaving a car idling in a closed garage leads to carbon monoxide poisoning.

Seems like a simple reminder and one not necessarily called for, but hundreds are killed accidentally annually just by not taking proper precautions.

A hurricane, for the second time in six years, struck Andover last Thursday night, doing little more than leaving local residents wondering whether the thing had been over-publicized or over-radio-ized, or whether perhaps the first hurricane in 1938 had removed everything removable, leaving very little prey for the 1944 one.

Pakstis - Keegan

Miss Eileen Bridget Keegan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Keegan, 27 Lincoln St., was married on Sept. 6 to John Charles Pakstis, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Pakstis of Cambridge at an 11 a.m. ceremony officiated by Rev. Joseph Gill, O.S.A., St. Augustine's Church. A reception followed at the Lanam Club.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an antique ivory gown she designed of silk organza over peau de soie and alencon lace embroidered with seed pearls. The gown was fashioned with an Empire bodice, elbow length sleeves, high neckline with scalloped edge. Floor length panels of matching alencon lace embroidered with seed pearls were applied on the skirt. Her floor length mantilla veil of French illusion edged with matching alencon lace, was held in place by a headpiece fashioned of petals and rosebuds of peau de soie and she carried a cascade of roses, stephanotis and ivy.

Miss Lois Dorfman of Long Island, N.Y., was maid of honor and wore an Empire gown of apricot crepe, pinafore draped on the back over ivory crepe, trimmed with Venice lace, Dior bow and a row of apricot buttons down the back. She carried a bouquet of roses, yellow daisies and yellow miniature carnations and wore a coronet of matching flowers in her hair.

Similarly gowned in emerald blue were the bridesmaids Miss Louise Pakstis of Cambridge, Miss Regina Neil and Mrs. David Helmstadter of Boston and Miss Sandra Bushnell of Bridgeport, Conn. They carried bouquets of sweet-heart roses, yellow daisies and yellow miniature carnations and wore a coronet of matching flowers in their hair.

Miss Barbara Davis, niece of the bride, registered the guests.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Keegan wore a French blue dress and coat ensemble trimmed with matching French blue braid, matching accessories and phalaenopsis orchids. Mrs. Pakstis, mother of the bridegroom, wore watermelon pink linen with a ruff collar and a deep border fashioned of matching fabric embroidered with pearls and crystals, matching accessories, and phalaenopsis orchids.

Mr. Jay McCarthy of Cambridge was the best man. The ushers were Mr. George A. Ruger of Boston, Mr. Frederic Bartkus of Littleton, Mr. Edward Reid of Cambridge and Mr. James Reineika of New York City.

The bride is a graduate of Abbot Academy, Simmons College and is a graduate student at Boston College Graduate School of Social Work.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Cambridge High and Latin and attended U.S. Naval Academy in Annapolis. He is completing his studies at Northeastern University in Boston. He plans a career in social welfare research.

After a wedding trip to Nova Scotia, the couple will reside in Boston.

We're all in this valley together.

A million and a half people live and work in the Merrimack Valley, and spend some of their leisure time watching television.
Mostly Boston stations, with an emphasis on a Boston audience.

Well, we grew up in this valley, and we understand it, and with our experience in TV and broadcasting it was only natural that we should build a big-time station in this area. So we can have coverage of local sports and civic events. And so we can give this audience the kind of programs they want to see.

It took a lot of time and money, but the dream is about to come true. We've ordered and installed the finest equipment money can buy Marconi color cameras, for example. And to get the most out of this advanced equipment we've hired an experienced professional staff.

To house all this we built two studios, one of them the biggest north of New York.

And we're going on the air with a lineup that we think the valley will enjoy.
Talk shows like David Susskind and Mike Douglas (although they don't talk to each other). And a business and stock market report program that runs 3 hours in the middle of the day. And the Merrimack Valley news. And Bingo, and soul-rock, and sports, and drama, and a Weekend Action Pack.

There's more, but the important thing is, it's just the beginning. You're going to help us develop the finest programming in New England. By telling us what you want to see.

Then Boston can watch the Merrimack
Valley for a change.

Ecumenical Study Series Scheduled

The fourth annual Ecumenical Studies Series of the Inter-Faith Institute of Greater Lawrence is scheduled to begin on Monday, Oct. 6, at 7:30 at the Salvatorian Center in Methuen.

Consult

about this question:

"I would not like to see my family forced to sell part of my business to get cash for my final expenses and inheritance taxes. Is a life insurance policy the answer to provide ready cash so my estate can remain intact?"

Douglas N.

INSURANCE • REAL ESTATE

The eight-week series -- entitled Breakthrough -- will involve people from all faiths in Greater Lawrence. The goal is to "break through" into deeper relationship with one another as people of faith; and to "break through" individual and group desire to set out one's faith in everyday life.

Each week representatives from different faiths in Greater Lawrence will be making stimulating presentations informing participants of their particular tradition and what they see as the present and future stance of their tradition to the community itself. The participants will then be divided into small groups of twelve persons each, led by two trained facilitators to discuss the presentation in more depth and to relate to each other on deeper levels of friendship and understanding.

At the conclusion of the series, on Monday, Nov. 24, there will be a Community-Wide Thanksgiving Celebration at the Salvatorian Center which will be open to the general public.

Those scheduled to give presentations are as follows: Rabbi Harry Roth of Temple Emmanuel; Rev. George Lawless, O.S.A., of Merrimack College; Rev. George Dagher of St. Joseph's Catholic; Rev. Craig Peel of Windham Community Church; Rev. Sam McCain of St. David's Episcopal; and Rev. Richard Woodman of the Unitarian-Universalist church.

Registration for this may be made through K. Bradfield Campbell, executive director of the Inter-Faith Institute.

Smith - Emmons

Miss Joanne Emmons, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William V. Emmons, 9 Locke St., became the wife of Ronald Allan Smith, in a 2 o'clock ceremony in South Church, Sunday, Sept. 14.

Mr. Smith is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. K. Smith of Camp Hill, Pa.

The bride, who was escorted to the altar by her father, wore an A-line gown of ivory silk-faced peau de soie, trimmed by a pearl-edged alencon lace panel. A long illusion veil was attached to a matching pearl headpiece. She carried a colonial bouquet of roses, stephanotis and baby's breath.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Elaine Morrison, was her matron of honor, and Deborah Brent of Andover, Christine Creelman of Melrose, Elaine Gerber of New Hyde Park, N.Y. and Linda McIntosh of Columbus, Ohio, were her bridesmaids. Miss Sarah Brent was flower girl, and Wilbert Morrison was ring bearer.

Steven Bowman of Pennsylvania was Mr. Smith's best man, and ushering for the ceremony were the bridegroom's brother, Ed K. Smith, Walter Drake of Baltimore, Md., Albert Sides of Brooklyn, N.Y., and Lt. j.g. Donald O. Emmons, brother of the bride.

Many Visit Museum In No. Andover

Visitors from Boston and Ipswich viewed collections of the North Andover Historical Society and the Merrimack Valley Textile Museum during the past week, according to an announcement from the host institutions.

On Saturday, Sept. 20, 40 members of the Ipswich Historical Society, stopped during an all-day tour of historic houses and museums in the region. Local guides included staff members Ralph J. Esposito, Mrs. James Gaffney, Raymond F. Ryan and David LaPlante.

On Tuesday, Sept. 23, about 45 members of the China Students' Club of Boston came to North Andover in order to see the local collection of woodenware, pewter, china and glass. Guides that day at the Society's properties were Mrs. Gaffney and Mrs. John Bel-yea.

Visitors to the Textile Museum during October will include students of the New England School of Art, members of the New England Conference of American Automobile Association Managers, students of Timberlane Regional High School and Mt. Ida Junior College.

These visitors are among the first of several thousand who come to North Andover each year to enjoy the local collection of antiques and history exhibits.

Adult Class To Study Program

The school committee Tuesday night accepted the school administration's tentative program for sex education (Human Relationships and Healthful Family Living) which includes community education, teacher training, and a pilot project in one school on a voluntary basis, starting in January.

The program will begin with an adult evening course at Sanborn School, taught by a Sanborn teacher to Sanborn parents and all other interested citizens.

The local religious establishments already have agreed to discuss the program, together with the school administration, and ministers, doctors, etc. will be on a speakers bureau to address the evening classes.

In January, a pilot project will be established at Sanborn School, K-6 on a voluntary basis. That is, only those children will be included in the class whose parents have volunteered. Meantime the workshop of largely Sanborn teachers team who prepared the curriculum for the course, led by Sanborn Principal Joseph Normandy, will work with interested teachers on teaching methods. The workshop team will make a community presentation followed by meetings at individual schools concerning the content of the course. Evaluation of the program should be ready by May or June.

The school administration says this issue presently receives more public play, with less public information, than any other education issue. Asst. Superintendent Vaughn I. Clapp described the program which Normandy's workshop has prepared as "a non-threatening program, beginning with public information, volunteering by the public, then more information and again, proceeding on a volunteer basis.

The schools are billing the program as "Sex Education", just now, though this is only a small part of the content; "Human Relationships and Healthful Family Living" is a more accurate and comprehensive title for the course, according to the workshop teachers. However, Seifert said that if you start out calling it "Human Relationships and Healthful Family Living," people might think you are covering up.

Dress Code, Or Lack Of It, Approved

The school committee passed the following statement on student appearance and dress Tuesday night without any dissenting opinion being registered, but against the lone dissenting vote of Committeeman William A. Doherty.

"The Andover School committee believes that the appearance and dress of students is the responsibility of the students and their parents."

"Dress Codes" are believed not to be desirable because they are: . . .

1. Not in the tradition of American public schools.

2. Subject to broad interpretation and are resolved, frequently, by edict.

3. Controversial, and divert us from the educational process.

Our young people must learn to make sensible decisions in such matters in their formative years."

Committeeman William King commented that the vote was legally unnecessary since the Andover school committee never at any time had voted address code in, but had just let each principal go his own way until this year.

King strongly supported the statement, however. He reminded members that Judge Charles Wyzanski had that same day reinstated a student in Marlboro High school, ruling that the school administration had no legal right to expel a boy for long hair.
